Dear [REDACTED]

Freedom of information request: 19/00737

I refer to your application under section 30 of the Freedom of Information Act 2016 (the Act), received by the Environment, Planning and Sustainable Development Directorate (EPSDD) on 10 January 2019, in which you sought access to “all modelling or equivalent analysis conducted in relation to costs associated with the large scale feed-in tariff program since 1 January 2018”.

I also note that you have agreed to an extension of time with the decision deadline of 22 March 2019.

I am an Information Officer appointed under section 18 of the Act to deal with access applications made under Part 5 of the Act.

Decision on access

I have included, as Attachment A to this decision, the schedule of relevant documents. This schedule provides a description of each document that falls within the scope of your request and the access decision for each of those documents.

I have decided to grant access to three documents in full.

I have decided to refuse access to two documents in accordance with section 43 (1) (d) of the Act, as these documents are publicly available.

I have decided to refuse access to two documents as I consider them to be information that would, on balance be contrary to public interest to disclose under the test set out in section 17 of the Act.

Four documents identified as relevant to your request contain information that I consider would, on balance, be contrary to public interest to disclose under the test set out in section 17 of the Act. I decided to grant access, under section 50 of the Act, to copies of these documents with deletions applied to the information that I consider would be contrary to public interest to disclose.

I have decided to defer access to the remaining document as an affected third party have objected to its disclosure. I will write to you to advise when access is no longer deferred.

My access decisions are detailed further in the following statement of reasons.

Material considered

In reaching my access decision, I have taken the following into account:

- the FOI Act, particularly section 17 and Schedule 2;

- the Information Privacy Act 2014;
- views of relevant third parties; and
- the content of the documents that fall within the scope of your request.

Exemptions claimed

My reasons for deciding access to documents are set out below. In reaching my decision I have applied the public interest test under section 17 of the Act as follows:

Contrary to the public interest information under Schedule 2 of the Act

The Act recognises the right of every person to obtain access, under its provisions, to government information (see section 7, the Act). As an Information Officer, I am required to allow access to information subject to the Act unless, on balance, disclosure would be contrary to the public interest.

In assessing the public interest, I must apply the cascading test set out by section 17 of the Act which requires consideration of factors favouring disclosure, any factors favouring nondisclosure and the balance of those factors when considered cumulatively.

Business affairs

Some of these documents contain business information relating to third parties, the release of which would reasonably prejudice trade secrets and business affairs, a factor favouring non-disclosure under Schedule 2.2 (a) (xi) of the Act. I have considered the release of business affairs information and whether the disclosure of that information would serve to further open discussion, government accountability, informed debate and the provision of contextual or background information.

On balance of these public interest considerations and the information available, I have concluded that the disclosure of trade secrets and business affairs information would be an unreasonable disclosure and, therefore, contrary to the public interest to release.

Personal information

I have considered the release of personal information and my view in this instance is that it would not serve to further open discussion, government accountability, informed debate and the provision of contextual or background information.

I am satisfied that the disclosure of identified personal information could reasonably be expected to prejudice the protection of an individual's right to privacy under the Human Rights Act 2004. This is a factor favouring nondisclosure under Schedule 2.2 (a)(ii) of the Act.

In balancing public interest considerations, I am satisfied that, on the information available, disclosure of the identified personal information may constitute a breach of privacy and is therefore contrary to the public interest.

Online publishing – disclosure log

Under section 28 of the Act, the EPSDD maintains an online record of access applications called a disclosure log. Your original access application, my decision and documents released to you in response to your access application will be published in the disclosure log. Your personal contact details will not be published.

You may view our disclosure log at <http://www.environment.act.gov.au/about/access-government-information/disclosure-log>.

Ombudsman review

My decision on your access application is a reviewable decision as identified in Schedule 3 of the Act. You have the right to seek Ombudsman review of this outcome under section 73 of the Act within 20 working days from the day that my decision is published in the disclosure log, or a longer period allowed by the Ombudsman.
