Good morning

I was just wondering if there are any further details regarding my build that came out of this meeting.

Is the commencement date of July that the builder informed you of still effective, or has the estimated start date changed? If the July date is still effective, why am I have I been given 3 separate dates (in email) that indicate that it would be commenced before then?

It is evident that on visiting the site, that the drainage has not been done (as of Monday 5/6), the date the slab was meant to have been laid, but was supposedly delayed due to the weather.

Good afternoon, [REDACTED]

Further to our conversation on Wednesday we have scheduled a meeting next week with the Builder and will update you once we have clarification of the details relating to the progress of your dwelling.

Kind regards
